AND IMAM MAHDI AND FOUNDER OF

Hadrat Mirza Ghulam Ahmad,
The Promised Messiah and Mahdi, founder of the
Ahmadiyya Muslim Jama'at
says that:

As for me, if I am offering my prayers (Salat) and I hear the voice of someone who is in pain, I like to stop praying and do whatever I can for that person and to show him sympathy as much as lies in my power. It is not good morals that one should not help a brother who is in trouble. If there is nothing that you can do for him, you can atleast pray for him.

The Keys to peace in a Time of Global Disorder

About this address

We are living in extremely precarious and dangerous times, in which the state of the world is a cause of huge concern. Conflict and disorder is consuming the world and threatening international peace and security.

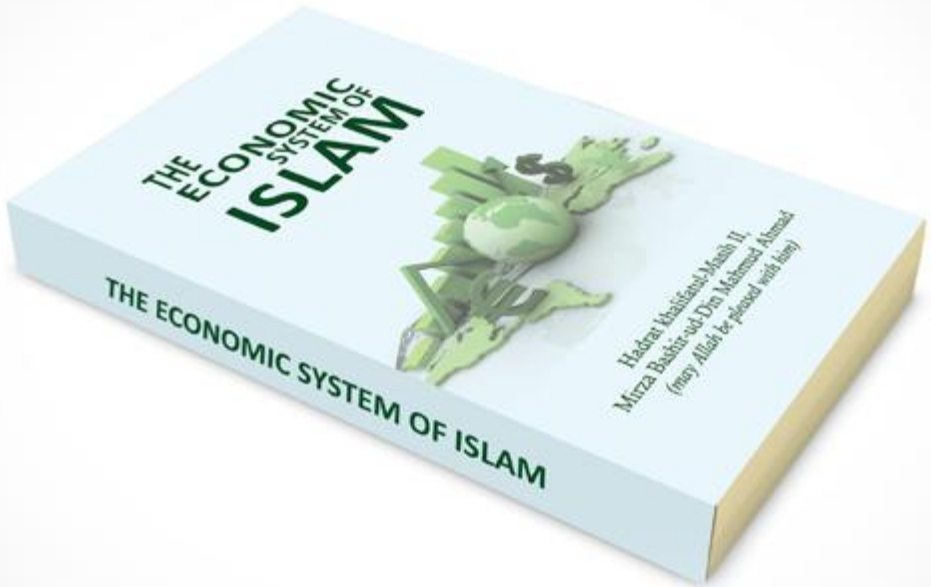

If we glance towards the Muslim world we see that in a number of countries the governments are involved in brutal wars with their own people. Bloodshed and senseless violence is completely destroying the fabric of those nations. Terrorist groups are taking advantage of the resulting power vacuums by taking control of certain areas and establishing their own so-called governments and rule. They are acting in a heinous fashion and committing the most barbaric cruelties imaginable, not only in their own countries, but they have now also reached Europe and the recent example of their brutalities is the Paris attacks.

In Eastern Europe hostilities between Russia and Ukraine and other European countries are continuing to flare.

The Economic System of Islam

A Lecture delivered by Hadhrat Mirza Bashir-ud-din Mahmud Ahmad, Second Successor of the Promised Messiah to show that it is only through the teachings of Islam that a truly just system of governance and economic system can be established.

About the Book

This book is an introduction to the principles that Islam has legislated to guide the economic system of society.

As a complete way of life, Islam has provided guidelines and rules for every sphere of life and society. Naturally, a functioning economic system is vital for a healthy society, as the consumption of goods and services, and the facilitation of this by a common medium of exchange, play a major role in allowing people to realize their material and other goals in life. Islam has set some standards, based on justice and practicality, for such economic systems to be established.
